The company reported an after-tax profit for Quarter 2, 2025 as a loss, compared to a profit in the same period of 2024, primarily due to the following reasons:

In Quarter 2, 2025, the market experienced significant volatility and a decline in trading volume, leading to reduced brokerage revenue and margin income compared to the same period last year. Additionally, revenue from proprietary trading also decreased. Furthermore, a drop in stock prices resulted in a larger unrealized loss from the revaluation of financial assets compared to the same period last year. These were the main factors contributing to the substantial decline in operating performance year-over-year.
